A Renewed Reverence

Thus far, we've established that with Moses living around 1500 BC, the books attributed to him date between 1450–00 BC. These books were vested with authority by the command that they are read every seven years (Deut. 31:10–13), and they were read by Joshua in the 13th century BC (Josh. 8:34–35). The 8th century BC prophet Isaiah urged the reading of prophetic books (Is. 34:16). By the 7th century BC, King Josiah's court had discovered a copy of the law, likely the book of Deuteronomy (2 Kings 22:3–20), and read from it and inquired of Huldah what such things meant. Jeremiah (6th cent. BC) urged a reading of his scroll as authoritative (Jer. 36:6–26). During Jeremiah's tenure, Judah was exiled to Babylon.

When the exiles returned to their land after decades of absence, they did so under one journey where the scribe Ezra led them. Ezra was one who "set his heart to study the Law of the LORD, and to do it and to teach his statutes and rules in Israel" (Ez. 7:10; cf. 7:6, 25; Deut. 16:12). Ezra's knowledge of the Law enabled him to advocate for the Law in the reestablishment of Israel, so when the people assembled for a reading of the law, their response was remorse and weeping (see Neh. 8). The return from exile and covenant renewal did not prohibit a lukewarm response to the Law. By the prophet Malachi, the priests had turned from the Law (Mal 4:4). Their neglect of the Law, perhaps a response to unfulfilled prophetic expectations, led them to apathy towards religious observance. They were neglecting their duties manifested in the lack of reverence towards God so that instead of teaching the Law, they turned from it (Mal. 2:1–9).

The Law taking center stage is assumed to have been ongoing by the time of the Maccabean Revolt (c. 167–160 BC) when the books of the Law were seized from the temple and any who possessed copies. The seizure was followed by a subsequent destruction of the law documents, which gave rise to Jewish zeal for the customs of their ancestors (1 Macc. 1:56–57). The Jews had formed the habit of searching the Law's book when faced with national threats (1 Macc. 3:48), and they'd read from their holy books even before going into battle (2 Macc. 8:23). Following Ezra and Nehemiah's example, they became stringent in their observance of studying the Law and turning to it. This was a dramatic shift from their pre-exilic mindset. They had a renewed reverence for Scripture.

Loud Hosanna

We, in the Churches of Christ do not observe Palm Sunday in a formal way but, as next Sunday is designated Palm Sunday on our calendars, we will hear the famous hymn titled "Hosanna, Loud Hosanna" played and sung all over the media.

This hymn, paired with the tune ELLACOMBE, is found as number 208 in our pew hymnals. Jennette Trelfall penned the poem exactly 150 years ago this year. The tune was originally circulated thru an old German hymnbook as early as 1784.

Both words and tune have earned their place in the annals of classic Christian hymnody. We also sing the tune to "I Sing The Mighty Power of God" (# 75 in our hymnal).

Untold riches are to be found between the pages of not only our current hymnal but in many others as well.

We are looking for men to lead the family devotionals that will be coming up this summer. If there are any men that are interested in taking on such a task, please get in touch with me so we can work out both a schedule and topic for this opportunity to serve the Lord.

FBS is right around the corner. If you have interest in assisting with this monumental project, give me a shout as we are just now starting to come up with some ideas and a theme.

WKYC: Who's ready for an awesome summer at church camp?! Registration for all sessions is ongoing. To register online, visit wkyc.org and select "Summer Sessions" to view all options. Members of Glendale Road can enter the code `glen2023` at check-out for 50% off the camp session cost per camper. (Thank you to our elders for supporting our campers!) Weekly sessions for ages 8-18 begin June 10 and run through July 21. Families with children ages 4-7 are invited to consider Pee-Wee Weekend, June 16-18. Questions? See me or Landon Clark.

Bible Bowl competition will take place April 23rd here at Glendale. The kids are working hard in their study of Romans. Show them some encouragement when you get the chance.

The mission trip signup has been posted on the youth board. This trip is for high school only. The cost to attend the trip will depend on how many we have going but I will do my best to make sure this trip costs as little as possible. Please sign up by April 2nd. The last day to sign up will be April 30th. Thank you!
